LETTER FROM STANLEY MATTHEWS At this juncture, Mr. Benj. Robinson took the speaker's stand, with a document in his hand, and demanded the attention of the delegates. He stated that he held a letter from Judge Stanley Matthews, declining the from Judge Stanley matthews, declining the nomination for Congress; and he proposed, that, as the only business of the Convention was to nominate a candidate, further pro-ceedings should be stayed, and Alexander Long nominated by acclamation. (Cheers.) The President then read the following letter of declination from Judge Matthews:

"To the President of the Democratic Convention of the Second Congressional District:
"Sin:—It is due to myself, to this Convention and to the public at large, to inform you that the announcement of my name as a candidate for nomination to the office of a Representative in Congress from this District, was made without my authority or consent. I do not desire the nomination, and am not a candidate for it.
"Respectfully, your obedient servant,

"Respectfully, your obedient servant, "STANLEY MATTHEWS."

A SERIES OF RESOLUTIONS. Mr. Martin Bruner then moved that Alexander Long be nominated by acclamation. The President, however, stated that he held in his hand a series of resolutions, which he thought had better be read prior to a vote on the motion to nominate Mr. Long, and he proceeded to deliver himself of the following. The parturition was quite painful, and he was compelled to seek the assistance of G. M. D. Bloss, of the Enquirer, with whose aid the series was read: the series was read:

M. D. Bloss, of the Enquirer, with whose aid the series was read:

Resched, That the time has arrived when, in the judgment of this Convention, it behoves and is the sale my different of the Convention, it behoves and is the sale my different of the Convention, it behoves and is the sale with the has readered in the part, upon sense which thin has readered in the part, upon sense which thin has readered of crashing out the Equiphlican organization, which is the nursery of all that is corrupt and dangerous in our political. It menaces the integrity of the Union, and will surely destroy it unless it be arrested in its muck curser.

Rescreed, That as the davery question is now the factories, that as the davery question is now the only political issue, and as the Rembiscan of all shades have combined to make that the only test of faith, it would be suicided for the opponents of sectionalism and Arollisonism, to remain separated on secount of old difference of opinion upon subjects not now agitated, and that they likewise should combine and accept the gaze of battle bendered by our Reguloican opponents, and beat them upon their selected first in action.

Rescreed, The been reminated for Congress in the hasterien, whose plutform is the Union, the Constitution and the Enforcement of the Lawa, and which the personal character is of sufficient surventes that he will be faithful to it; that it is invested in the survey of the sectional, distinction and prescriptive centiment that is the basis of the Regulation, and that we would recommend to the Democratic roters to so cast their votes as will recombined to the complete and overwhelming default of the Constitution, and that we would recommend to the Democratic roters to so cast their votes as will recombined to the complete and overwhelming default of the Regulation organization.

After the above resolutions had been disposed of, the motion to nominate Alexander Long for Congress by acclamation was renswed, and carried amid the greatest enthusiasm. Mr. L. was then called upon, and having taken the stand, said he would be recreant to his own feelings if he failed to express his gratitude for the honor that had been conferred upon him. The position was one of great responsibility, but he accepted it with a determination not to violate the confidence that had been reposed in him. He would not make a speech, but would submit his claim and the great principles of the Democratic party to the soher judgment and the intelligence of the people, and stand or fall by their decision. The argument and the right was with them, and he had no doubt of the result.

Mr. Long's remarks were enthusiastically received. At their conclusion, Mr. Martin Brunner moved an adjournment, which prevalled, and the Convention of the Second Congressional District dispersed, to meet again at Wood's Theater. NOMINATION OF MR. LONG.

MEETING OF THE COUNTY CONVENTION AT On notion, held over until next Friday, and Clerk instructed to notify the City Councillation.

COLE & HOPHINS,
Corner of Fifth and Vine.

Adjustmed.

On notion, held over until next Friday, and Clerk instructed to notify the City Councillation.

At helf past eleven o'clock, yesterday marring, the Democratic Councillation.

tion met at Wood's Theater. The meeting was called to order, and John Bennett appointed President, pro tess. Upon motion, Daniel Bailey and William Phillips were appointed Secretaries.

J. M. Blundell arose and moved that a J. M. Blundell arose and moved that a committee, consisting of one from each ward and township, and one from each contesting delegation, be appointed on credentials. This seemed the signal for a general confusion, for no sooner had Mr. B. made his proposition, than half a dozen persons arose in different parts of the house and addressed the Chairman at the same time.

in different parts of the house and addressed the Chairman at the same time.

Of course none of them were heard; but a number of propositions were made upon which no action was, or could be, taken. The utmost excitement existed in every part of the house. The delegates were shouting; the spectators in the gallery swearing; the Chairman hammering the table with his gavel; the Secretary crying order, and stentorian tones from every bench almost in the building, calling out "Mr. President."

At this moment a couple of contesting delegates from the Sixteenth Ward became involved in a personal difficulty, and began to strike out indiscriminately. Each seized his opponent by the throat, and made every effort to pummel him; but the excitement was too intense even for this. What had before been confused was now confounded. The delegates rushed toward the belligerent parties, and each man caught some other man, and all entered the melec with the determination of Democrats.

rmination of Democrats.
Then coats, vests, shirts were torn, faces scratched and noses broken. Men kicked and pounded each other, and made their utmost endeavor, some to quiet the disturbance and others to increase it. The entire assembly was on its feet, and each particular member endeavoring to make himself heard above the Pandemonium-like din of the contestants. The Chairman mounted a table and bellowed "Order" until his throat was hoarse; but the row increased, and threatened to enbut the row increased, and threatened to en-tirely prevent any further proceedings. Suddenly the gallery began to hiss, and this noise rose above the curses of the delegates so long and loud that they became ashamed of themselves, and finally quieted down under this mark of disapprobation, which, coming from the spectators, fell upon the froubled waves of the convention like a be-neficent oil upon a heaving sea.

APPOINTMENT OF A COMMITTEE ON CHEDRN-

TIALS. When order was again restored, Mr. W. T. Forrest moved a call of the wards and townships for the purpose of appointing a Committee on Credentials, which was done amid much confusion, with the following result:
First Ward—J, W. Fitzgerald—contested

y James Finn. Second Ward-G. W. Johnston. Third Ward-Capt, Pat Rogers, Fourth Ward-J. W. Burke-contested by Bunker. Fifth Ward-Frank Kirchner.

The committee was requested to withdraw to the office of C. J. W. Smith, for consultation, when an effort was made to appoint a Committee on Permanent Officers, but after a few wards had been called the idea was abandoned, and Alexander Long, George H. Pendleton, and several other parties re-Pendleton, and several other parties quested to address the Convention, but be-fore this could be done the meeting took a recess for one hour. AFTERNOON SESSION-ANOTHER GENERAL ROW, AND AN ADJOURNMENT IN GENERAL DIS-

This extraordinary political menagerie opened its doors about three o'clock, in the atternoon, at which time it was generally understood that the Committee on Credenunderstood that the Committee on Credentials was ready to report.

The door-keepers of the establishment at first made an effort to allow none to enter the building save delegates; but this seemed impossible, for the outside pressure was so great that they could not reach the entrance. Finally the doors were thrown open and the entire crowd rushed in and filled the theater to its utmost capacity.

Then there was another general row. Some of the contesting delegates climbed upon the stage, and thronged about the President's and Secretary's chairs, much to the annoyance of other delegates, who insisted that they should take their seats.

A PROPOSITION TO ADJOURN, This caused the utmost confusion, and each man seemed determined to be heard, while the roar of voices sounded like the combined effect of a dozen Ningaras. The members shouted, the outsiders roared. Some stamped, others whistled, a few clapped their hands have a seemed a manufacture of the control of the Some stamped their watstad, a lew chapped their hands; but every body made a noise. At length a modern Stentor arcse and said: "Mr. President, I move we adjourn, to meet at Carthage to-morrow morning."

Chairman,—"Gentlemen, you have heard the motion." A Delegate.—"Mr. Chairman, for God's sake do not go to Carthage. The County Fair is being held there, and the confusion and noise will be great there as here. I amend by suggesting Cheviot, Sharpaburg, anywhere, to get out of this G—d d—d hole."

anywhere, to get out of this G-d d-d hole."

Just at this moment some one caught him by the coat-tail, and with a vigorous jerk sent him under one of the parquette seats. Here followed a general row. The gentleman from Cheviot, however, was not heard from again, and for aught we know is still at the theater.

Every moment the noise and excitement became more and more intense. A melee ensued, in which about fifty persons took part, and the scene was exactly similar to that which occurred in the forenoon. Such roaring, swearing, surging, pulling and indiscriminate choking, hair-pulling and head-punching, certainly never before occurred among the harmonious Democracy.

MR. PLAGG MOUNTS THE PLATFORM.

W. J. Flagg now came upon the stage, and Mr. Bennett, who had exhanated his lungs, throat, energies and wits, in an endeavor to keep the Convention in working order, ingloriously retreated, and was not afterward heard from. He had seen glory enough for one day, and was content to retire and leave the management to Mr. F., who had witnessed the confusion at Charleston, and had some experience in matters of this kind.

Mr. Flagg said that he had been chosen as the permanent Chairman of this Convention, and after talking a few moments, the assembly became quieted sufficiently to extertain a motion to the effect that the report of the Committee on Crodentials be read. REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

Mr. Biggs, Chairman of the Committee, hereupon arose and read his report, which excluded the Burke ticket from the Fourth Ward, and was favorable to the admission of the delegates headed by Captain Glass. This, es will be seen, entirely reversed the decision of the Committee on Credentials in the Fig.

District Convention, and, of course, created the intensest excitement. Thomas A. Nesmith rushed upon the stage Thomas A. Nesmith rushed upon the stage and moved to strike the Glass ticket from the report and insert that headed by J. W. Burke. Fifty persons rose to their feet and addressed the Chair at the same instant, while cries of "Yes!" "Yes!" "No!" "No!" went up from hundreds of throats, causing a din that could not be overcome.

Here followed a scene similar to those we have already described, in the midst of which George E. Pugh appeared, and, after a few moments, induced the Convention to listen, while he told them that they would be ashamed of themselves in balf an bour, and advised them to adjourn until another day.

Here a proposition to adjourn, to meet next Tuesday at Mt. Pleasant, was carried by a vociferous vote, and without a dissenting voice. After some delay, the delegates left the theater, and the disharmonized Democratical Commence of the Commence of

racy dispersed. THE EXCITEMENT IN THE STREET,

The street in front of the theater was crowded early yesterday morning, and each hour as it passed brought new excitement. After the adjournment at noon the agitation was intense, and a number of personal collisions took place. Pistols and knives were drawn and flourished but not used; men were knocked down indiscriminately, numerous eyes blackened and sundry heads were knocked down indiscriminately, aumerous eyes blackened and sundry heads punched; but, notwithstanding all this, no one was seriously injured. The vicinity of the place of holding the Convention was in a commotion during the entire day, and, while we write, the excitement does not seem entirely to have subsided.

Hamilton County Fair—First Day.—
The teuth annual fair of the Hamilton County Agricultural Society commenced yesterday, but, as is usual, but little interest was manifested in the first day's proceedings. Not more than 100 persons were present, and competition was by no means animated. A premium of $100 was offered to the best brass band, and two—the Washington, of Lockland, and the Montgomery, of Montgomery—were entered; after a long and tedions contest, the prize was awarded to the first-named. But few agricultural implements are yet on the ground, the manufacturers no doubt preferring to exhibit them at the Mechanics' Fair, on the 10th inst. This has been the case for several years, and the County Fair has now become almost exclusively a place for competition in agricultural products and for competition in agricultural products and live stock.

A machine for cutting corn-stalks and straw, exhibited by Messrs. Van Deusen & Gibbs, 214 Went Columbin-street, Cincinnati, deserves particular notice. It is a self-feeder and self-regulator. It will cut a bundle of corn-stalks or a single straw with equal facility; and it will revolve, when once fairly running, 200 times after the power has been taken off. Besides costing but $25, it has the following advantages:

1. Its great simplicity—there being nothing 1. Its great simplicity—there being nothing liable to get out of order, and its arrangement of parts being understood at a glance.

2. The ease with which it can be operated, as by a simple method of gearing, the knife is made to revolve with four times the rapidity of the crank, and the momentum of the fly-wheel thus gained reduces the labor of cutting at least one-half.

times the rapidity of the crank, and the momentum of the fly-wheel thus gained reduces the labor of cutting at least one-half.

3. There being only one knike to keep in order, and the cutting edge being easily adjusted, it is less trouble to keep always ready for use thas machines with more knives, and at the same time, the same number of cuts is obtained as with the four-knife cutters.

4. The readiness with which power may be applied, by simply placing a pulley on the knife-shaft, outside of the fly-wheel, and keeping it in place by a nut.
